

Mobile Homepage Wireframe — Responsive

Wireframe Explanation — Annotations

- 1 CTA Placement — primary Shop Now button placed above the fold with strong visual weight
- 2 Navigation Hierarchy — clear top-level menu with predictable structure and search prominence
- 3 Reduced Clutter — generous whitespace, single hero, no competing banners
- 4 Simplified User Journey → direct path from homepage → category → product → cart

Desktop Homepage Wireframe

User Flow Diagram

Problem Analysis — Why Customers Abandon Checkout

High abandonment rates often stem from poor user experience. Let's break down the key pain points.

1. Cluttered Layout

Too many elements compete for attention, making it hard for users to focus on what matters.

2. Too Many Distractions

Pop-ups, banners, and side promotions divert users from completing their purchase.

3. Hidden Checkout Process

The checkout steps are not clearly visible or require too many clicks to reach.

4. Poor CTA Visibility

Important calls-to-action are buried or lack visual prominence.

68% cart abandonment rate

Source: Baymard Institute